Complimentary Resources...

QuickInsight (new issue each month) combines information from Percept's nationwide household survey, "Ethos," and includes ideas for ministry. This information is designed for use with discussion groups such as Adult Sunday School classes. It can also be used as a bulletin insert and included in newsletters.

eXlibris (new issue each month) provides monthly reviews of books addressing issues critical to leadership in the church today. The review encourages discussion with your leadership team. These are books that can facilitate ecumenical discussions.

What is true about the people in your area of ministry? What changes are projected to take place during the next five years? What are some faith facts I can learn about the area? The answers to these questions and dozens of others are located in the 10-Facts Series.

Use the 10-Questions Workshop & Worksheet to introduce the 10-Facts Series to leaders in your church. We find this is an effective way to distribute the information.

The iChange & iLeadType surveys are designed to assess a person's response to change, and characteristics of their leadership style. A discussion guide is included with each survey to assist in facilitating conversations around the themes.

If there were just five keys to discovering the 21st-Century church, what would they be? Use the 5-Keys Quiz with your leaders and discuss the results. Download a free copy of the Starting Strong booklet for use in mission discussions.

Discounted Resources...

If you are interested in a full demographic information package on any size and shape geographic area (radius, ZIP Code or polygon), consider a Ministry Area Profile (MAP). Each MAP is produced by Percept and shipped to you. You save $170

When you are ready to do a comprehensive comparison of your community and congregation, we recommend you consider a Context report. The report is accompanied with a mission planning process called ReVision. You save $400
